New Trust For Life, Fish & Wildlife Foundation specialty license plates available

Kentucky residents now have a new license plate option for their vehicles. Released April 1, specialty plates for the Kentucky Circuit Court Clerks' Trust For Life and the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Foundation, featuring an image of the smallmouth bass, are available for purchase.

Beyond the state's standard "Unbridled Spirit" and "In God We Trust" license plates, Kentucky offers more than 100 specialty plates, most of which promote a cause and enable nonprofit organizations to receive donations from the public. Those purchasing a specialty plate can donate up to $10 to the organization it represents. The money is passed directly to the organization.

"Our specialty plate program has paved the way for many groups to get their mission out in front of the traveling public," said Rodney Kuhl, commissioner of the Department of Vehicle Regulation in the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet (KYTC). "In addition, the specialty plates allow Kentucky drivers a chance to donate to a favorite cause and show their support for an organization."

Kentucky offers dozens of plates promoting everything from military service and love of nature to coal and horses. Any owner of a non-commercial motor vehicle under 10,000 pounds required to be registered for use on Kentucky highways can purchase a specialty plate at the county clerk's office in their county of residence. Costs vary. A complete list of plates and their prices is available at <http://mvl.ky.gov>.

The smallmouth bass and Trust For Life specialty plates offer the public two more options for supporting nonprofit organizations. The cost of purchase for either plate is $34. In addition, those purchasing the plates can donate up to $10 to the circuit clerks' Trust For Life fund or the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Foundation, accordingly.

"Kentucky's first-ever Donate Life special license plate encourages motorists to put the mission, 'Organ, Eye and Tissue Donation Saves Lives,' into perspective. This statement illustrates the grandeur of what a simple 'YES' at the driver's license office has the ability to do," said Shelley Heavrin Snyder, executive director for Kentucky Circuit Court Clerks' Trust For Life. "Similarly, it gives passionate individuals the opportunity to publicly show their support for this worthy cause. If more people know about and support the lifesaving mission of donation, more lives will be saved. We are so grateful for the opportunity to share this message with everyone on the road."

"Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Foundation's smallmouth bass license plate commemorates the world record smallmouth caught in Kentucky waters by David L. Hayes in 1955 from Dale Hollow Lake," said Chad Miles, the foundation's executive director. "Donations to the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Foundation fund youth fishing projects in the Commonwealth. Kentucky is blessed with so many fishing opportunities throughout the state, with 123 lakes exceeding 50 acres in size. Kentucky possesses 220,832 acres of fishing water with 4,125 miles of shoreline."

Before a specialty license plate goes into production, the state requires organizations to submit an application outlining the mission of the organization and the way in which donations from the plate will be used. Once the application and plate design are approved, the organization is required to gather the signatures of 900 people who pay $25 each in advance for a plate. Once the plates are available, those 900 people receive a $25 credit when they order the plate at a county clerk's office. For an additional $25, a specialty plate can be personalized.

Taylor Elementary School second week winner in TELL Kentucky drawing

TELL (Teaching, Empowering, Leading and Learning) Kentucky is an anonymous, statewide survey of certified school-based educators to assess teaching conditions at the school, district and state level. A growing body of research shows the importance of positive teaching conditions to student learning and teacher retention. The main intent of the survey is to provide data to drive school and district improvements.

TELL Partners contributed private monies to provide weekly cash drawings to schools with high response rates. Taylor Elementary was the school winner for the second week drawing; they exceeded the 50% staff response rate. The deadline for completing the survey was Monday, April 6th; however, CONGRATULATIONS need to go to the three school systems in our area: Augusta Independent, Bracken County and Robertson County. A Legislative Perspective on the Kentucky General Assembly
State Rep. Mike Denham

If it's true that it takes years of preparation to be an overnight success, the same can also be said of many laws approved during a legislative session.

This year is a prime example, with several high-profile measures having been considered by the General Assembly before. That includes those addressing booster seats, dating violence and an update of the state's telecommunications laws.

There are several reasons behind this. A bill may have to wait when competing with other priorities, for example. Often, it takes time for legislators to get comfortable with an idea or for it to gain enough public support. In some cases, what is important in one legislative chamber may not have much traction in the other.

Most agree that this year's "short" session, lasting 29 days out of a possible 30, was a good one for Kentucky. Gov. Beshear said the new laws "will build stronger families and communities and accelerate Kentucky's momentum."

Those bills that did not make it to his desk, however, will almost certainly be filed and debated again when the House and Senate return to the Capitol in January. Some are well known, while others are relatively new.

One that cleared the House earlier this year with a wide, bipartisan margin would have given voters a chance to amend Kentucky's constitution. House Bill 70, which has now been through the chamber 10 times, proposed restoring voting rights automatically to most felons after they complete all aspects of their sentence. Nearly all states already allow this, but in Kentucky, only the governor can make this happen. The amendment would benefit about 240,000 Kentuckians, but those convicted of murder, sex-based crimes and bribery in an election would remain ineligible.

One of the most talked-about pieces of legislation toward the end of the session dealt with teacher retirement. House Bill 4 would have taken advantage of extremely low interest rates to borrow several billion dollars that would be used by the Kentucky Teachers' Retirement System, which historically has achieved much higher rates of return on its investments.

While understandably far-reaching, this approach would have eased the system's long-term liability while reducing the likelihood of crippling retirement costs for the state in the 2020s and 2030s. This legislation would have dovetailed with the reforms the General Assembly approved two years ago for state and local government employees and their retirees.

Public-private partnerships is another initiative that has broad support among the states. As the P3 name implies, this legislation would have made it easier for the state to partner with private businesses to carry out a public function.

The P3 concept is already taking place within some areas of state government, but this legislation would have standardized that process while expanding it to include highway projects. A key sticking point centers on how to pay for a proposed new Brent Spence Bridge, but if that can be resolved, this bill should then have no problem becoming law. It is a top priority of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce.

There are many other bills that did not pass, of course, but they will get another chance in January. Some that did not even get a committee hearing this year may turn out to play a starring role when 2016's accomplishments are compiled. That becomes even more likely when considering that there will be a new governor and a new two-year budget to enact.

For now, the General Assembly is starting to prepare for what legislators call the interim, which will have the various legislative committees reviewing the issues of the day each month until near the end of the year.

As always, I encourage you to let me know your thoughts during this time on any matter affecting our community or the state. You can always write to me at Room 329E, Capitol Annex, 702 Capitol Avenue, Frankfort, KY 40601; or you can email me at Mitchel.Denham@lrc.ky.gov.

To leave a message for me or for any legislator by phone, please call 800-372-7181. For those with a hearing impairment, the number is 800-896-0305.

I hope to hear from you soon.

Thoughts and Meditations from the Scriptures

DESPOILING THE EARTH

While there may be legitimate differences of opinion about how much environmental degradation we are wreaking on our planet, there is little doubt that we are causing harm when half a million people can't drink the water in their area, as happened last summer in Ohio. I remember as a child in the 1960s when Lake Erie "died" and when the Cuyahoga River caught on fire. We brought Lake Erie back from the brink, but we have short memories. The Chesapeake Bay regularly suffers from fertilizer runoff and last year the Gulf of Mexico had an oxygen-deprived dead zone that was the size of New Jersey. Surely we can take better care of our planet, and should remember that the air we breathe and the water we drink is essential to our survival. In the late 1960s when environmental concerns came to the forefront in this country the earth's population was approximately 3.5 billion people. We now have double that number, with over 7 billion people inhabiting our planet. Surely this calls for some careful thought about our impact on the planet. The earth is a gift from God and we have a duty as stewards of creation to take care of it. We should do what we can personally to be more environmentally conscious, and also to consider getting involved in efforts to persuade businesses and government leaders to take better care of our environment. ~ Christopher Simon

The land must not be sold permanently, because the land is mine and you reside in my land as foreigners and strangers. Throughout the land that you hold as a possession, you must provide for the redemption of the land. Leviticus 25:23-24

We had 63 for our Son Rise service. Specials were - Donnie Johnson singing "Almighty God" and Homer Burton singing "Gone". Bro. Jackie's message was about our risen Lord and of Him giving His all for us.

Following our service, a delicious breakfast was served by our sleepy men, but all had bright smiles! It was overheard that Ron Harrison is preparing breakfast for all every Sunday morning - now isn't that just so sweet!

Ron Foley brought our SS lesson "Come To Me" from John 20:24-31, on Doubting Thomas. Jesus welcomes us to come to Him just as we are.

On this beautiful Easter Sunday morning of April 5, we were blessed with 117 people that came to hear about God's Son...JESUS. Darrin Young sang "Feel The Nails". We were glad to have JoAnn Brown with us and she played "The King Is Coming". Jane Nelson played "He Arose" and then "Here Comes Peter Cotton Tail". The two special little bunnies were Jordan McKinney and Greg Conley. It was so cute as all the children came forward to get candy as the bunnies tossed it out!

Little Miss Gracie Taylor was celebrating a birthday. Bro. Jackie had her come forward and we all sang to her. Gracie has seizures but she is doing better now. Prayer works.

Bro. Jackie's message was "The Road To Emmaus". Luke 24: 13-35. Do we know our Risen Lord today? Let Him come into your heart today.

Remember in prayer: Doris Applegate (test), Betty McElfresh (remains in hospital and is very weak), Pauline Jacobs & her family, Cheryl McDonald (physical therapy on back), Pam Bruin (disc problems & will be having physical therapy) & her son Benny Bruin (possible pacemaker), Sandy Blevins (test), Rick Linville, Dickie Rees, Don Galloway, Laura Goes (thyroid), Susie Fathergill, and always each other.

Our prayers & sympathy to all in the passing of their loved ones. Our hearts were saddened to hear about the passing of Mildred Douglas. What a blessing she was to us at Chatham. Always a smile and kind word for all. A wonderful Christian lady that we loved and will miss.

We were glad to have Wayne Brockley back with us and he helped with the breakfast. Appreciation to all the men for such a fine breakfast.

We welcome to God's family and our church family, Melissa White and Darryl Browning. Melissa was baptized on Saturday and Darryl moved his membership.

GREETINGS FROM ST. JAMES

Msgr. Dominic will be in Ghana for the next four weeks and in his absence, St. James and St. Augustine will have only weekend Mass celebrations. Communion Services will be held at St. Augustine Church on Wednesdays and Fridays and St. James will have Communion Services on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Each church will observe the normal Holy Hours adoration times. We pray that Monsignor's time away with many visits to family and friends will allow for a renewal of spirit that comes only from 'home visits' and for a safe return.

Don't forget our make-up dates for the two cancelled Lenten Fish Fries will be this Friday, April 10 from 5 until 7 PM in the Parish Hall and the following Friday, April 17. The menu consists of fish or shrimp, coleslaw, hushpuppies, macaroni and cheese or chips, drinks and delicious homemade desserts! We sincerely appreciate all of you who have supported and continue to support our parish in this fundraiser and your patience and understanding during our cancellations!

May the Risen Christ continue to bless each of you during this Easter Season as we rejoice in His presence and presents of our mortal and eternal lives!

PRESBYTERIAN POTPOURRI

by Les Grooms, pastor Augusta Presbyterian

We had seventy-nine present for worship on Easter Sunday. We had some visitors from out of town and some of our regulars were out of town visiting.

Earl Bush was the liturgist, Susie Hargett led the singing and there was no children's church because this was communion Sunday.

Millie Bush and Kay Grooms prepared the communion elements and the elements were served by Gretchen England and Lynn Darnell. Susie Hargett sang song while communion was being served.

We had a short Session meeting after church to welcome two new members into our church fellowship. The ones welcomed were Mike Clark and Shirley Gallenstine. It is such a wonderful time when new members are added to our church.

The Lenten services are over for another year. We had a great time. The last service was at St. Augustine. A good amount of money was raised for helping others.

Our Soup Supper this week will consist of our monthly breakfast at the evening meal. We will have biscuits, sausage gravy, scrambled eggs, quiche, fried potatoes, and some surprises.

Wednesday we will have our monthly Bread Basket meal. We are bringing our grill out of storage for the next seven months and have an assortment of grilled meats, as well as baked beans, and many other items. As always, there will be scrumptious desserts.

Our food pantry continues to be open on Friday mornings from 10-12 noon and on Monday evenings from 4-6. We always welcome donations of non-perishable food items.

The beauty of the spring season is rapidly approaching. I will be starting my fourteenth year as pastor of Augusta Presbyterian the Sunday after Easter. Time sure does fly when you are enjoying what you are doing.

Bracken County Farm Bureau women attend conference

Members of the Bracken County Farm Bureau Women's Committee, Louise Moneyhon, Betty Newman, and Margarette Carl, participated in the State Women's Leadership Conference that was held March 27-28, 2015, at the Four Diamond Award Winning Marriott River Center hotel in Covington. This conference was designed to inform and strengthen Farm Bureau volunteers with a focus on a variety of ways to expand county Farm Bureau programs and activities. During this event, attendees benefitted from information and interactive workshops including agriculture literacy, farm safety, rural health, agricultural advocacy and leadership - communications training. An off-site program on Friday evening at the famous Drees Pavilion in Devou Park was filled with excellent food and entertainment from previous KFB Variety Showcase acts.

Special entertainment by the reigning Miss Kentucky 2014, Ramsey Carpenter, playing selections of Bluegrass music on her fiddle was enjoyed along with her very inspirational story of her journey through the Miss Kentucky pageants and of her experience during the Miss America pageant.

La Donna Gatlin, sister of the famous Gatlin Brothers country music group delighted everyone with her motivational speech, "Tune Up Your Life"!

Several unique and informative tours were enjoyed: The Creation Museum, Jungle Jim's International Market, Eagle Bend Alpaca Farm - the first and the largest alpaca farm in the Northern Kentucky area, and Bob Maurer Farm - one of Kentucky's top sheep producing farms.

The closing general session included keynote speaker, Jason Koger of Owensboro. On March 1, 2008, while riding his four-wheeler on his farm, he came in contact with a down power line. 72,000 watts of electricity passed through his body causing him to lose both arms below his elbows. Jason, with his hope for tomorrow, determination to move forward, and with a goal to hold his two young daughters, overcame this accident.

The conference challenge was given by Betty Farris of Butler County, Chair, State Women's Advisory Committee, followed by door prize drawings and the adjournment.

A GLIMPSE INTO PATIENTS' MINDS

By looking through the cornea and eye lens, eye doctors are afforded the only look inside the body that can be attained without making an incision. This glimpse inside the eye offers a good look at the size and condition of blood vessels, which can provide valuable information. For instance, researchers from Duke University were recently able to come to some conclusions about brain function by looking at the small blood vessels at the back of the retina. They were able to do so because retinal blood vessels are similar in size, structure, and function to the blood vessels in the brain. Consequently, a comprehensive eye exam can provide a way of examining brain health.

Speed up the ripening process in fruit

submitted by Shannon Smith, CEA for Family & Consumer Sciences

For most people, the upcoming months signal the arrival of fresh, seasonal produce, which promises eating at its finest. However, sometimes that produce isn't as ripe as you need it to be. Some produce that has traveled a great distance is picked while it is still green and will not be ripe when it reaches the store. For some fruits, you can speed up the ripening process at home.

Common fruits that can be ripened at home include bananas, cantaloupe, peaches, pears, pineapples and tomatoes. You can speed up their ripening by placing them in a single layer in a large paper bag with holes punched through it. Fold the opening of the bag over and leave it on the counter while the fruit ripens. The fruit releases a gas that is then trapped in the bag, which speeds up the ripening process. Check the food daily to see whether it's ready to eat. Most fruit will ripen in a bag within a day or two.

Some produce, including apples, blueberries, cherries, grapes, strawberries and blackberries, will not ripen any more after they have been picked. Refrigerate these fruits immediately after purchase to maintain the best quality.

One of the best ways to get the freshest produce possible is to shop at your local farmers market for locally grown varieties. Most markets across the state have opened or are preparing to open soon. Since the food travels a shorter distance to reach local consumers, farmers can pick their produce at its peak of ripeness, either the night before or on the day of the market.

More information about local farmers markets and preparing fresh produce is available at the Bracken County office of the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service.

Attorney General Conway warns of Scam Targeting Seniors

Kentucky Attorney General Jack Conway and the Kentucky Cabinet for Health and Family Services Department for Aging and Independent Living (DAIL) is warning consumers of a reported scam targeting Kentucky's seniors.

DAIL has reported to the Office of the Attorney General that it has received multiple reports of an individual or individuals who falsely identify themselves as a representative of the "Division of Aging" offering a complimentary Life Alert system paid for by the state. The callers are telling consumers all they need to do to receive this service is to verify some personal information.

"Please warn your family, friends and neighbors not to fall prey to this scam targeting our seniors," said Attorney General Conway. "The Department for Aging and Independent Living is not involved, nor would it call seniors at home to request personal information.

If you or someone you know receives such a call, please hang up, and do not provide personal information over the phone to someone you did not call or do not know."

Kentuckians who have received such a call and have questions or concerns should contact Attorney General Conway's Office of Consumer Protection at 1-888-432-9257.

Consumer Tips

- Never provide personal information to unsolicited callers. The caller may use the information to either take money from your bank account or steal your identity.

- Beware of callers offering "free" items. Never engage in conversation with these callers. Hang up the phone immediately. If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is.

- Never commit to offers over the phone. Take the time to research any offer by asking friends, family

TRASH TALK

by: Mr. Recycle Bin & Ms. Pick-Up Litterbug

Howdy Folks! Even though we live on high ground, we were in the initial stages of building an ark last week! Our rain gauge only measures four inches of precipitation and it was filled to the brim! That needs to be emptied because according to the meteorologists, more rain is expected for this week! Saturday and Sunday were dry and that made for a fantastic Easter weekend with Easter egg hunts to be had in every corner of the county! Our sincerest prayers to everyone that the joys of Easter will extend well beyond this past weekend and that the good habits developed during our Lenten journey will remain a part of who we are and who we strive to be!

Many of you travelled during the recent storms and how many noticed that too many drivers do not turn their lights on during inclement weather? Vehicle lighting serves two purposes, mainly to allow the driver to see at night, but equally important, these lights allow your vehicle (and you in it!) to be seen! Like many of you, we travel a number of miles each week, always within the confines of Bracken and Mason Counties, and the number of drivers who neglect to turn their lights on is alarming! Early morning, dusk, during rain, snow, sleet and foggy conditions, vehicle lights should be used to allow you to be seen! Granted, it will not improve your ability to see but your visibility! Our knowledge of newer vehicles is limited, but surely all vehicles are now equipped with an alarm system that alerts you to the fact that your lights are still on should you forget to hit the "off" switch before exiting your vehicle. Each of you is unique and very important with a specific purpose in this life, so please turn on your lights to avoid any possibility of an accident!

As stated last week, the Bracken County Litter Patrols will be working from April 6 through May 7, so we urge you to use extreme caution when you encounter these workers! Yes, non-profit organizations are receiving payment for cleaning the litter from the road sides, but their efforts benefit the entire community. Please respect their presence as you drive past by slowing down and even stopping if necessary. These groups did not put the litter there, but are willingly cleaning someone's mess to better the health, safety and welfare of all Bracken County residents and preserving the environment for generations! It is not cute, but quite frankly a violation of Kentucky laws to toss litter at these groups as they work!

Two weeks from now on April 22, citizens worldwide will celebrate Earth Day which began in 1970 as a reminder to folks to take the time to enjoy the bounty of this wonderful planet we call home! Awareness of the dangers of air, water and soil pollution is a main focus of Earth Day which encourages folks to do something nice for nature on April 22. Suggestions include planting a tree with family or friends 'in honor of' or 'in remembrance of' loved ones; picking up roadside litter; beginning a recycling program at home, in school or the office; using reusable bags for shopping or carrying lunch; getting outdoors to breathe in the fresh spring air and to appreciate the beauty of flowers, trees and animal life. We are so fortunate to live in the country and should show this appreciation each day by RECYCLING, REUSING and REDUCING to keep God's earth clean, green and beautiful! Be seen' you – Bin & Bug.

Sports in Kentucky by Bob Watkins

HD: Legacy for 38-1 Wildcats? Find this one on shelf for Ended-In-Heartbreak

Since it won't be nine (titles) at University of Kentucky, a number this week is 157. Calendar days since the Wildcats weren't playing somewhere. Dollars lost to UK and local 40-0 tee-shirt profit hopefuls, millions.

2. 38-1 team legacy? See the Ended-in-Heartbreak shelf alongside Unforgettables (1992), Rupp's Runts (1966) and Hagan-Ramsey-Tsioropoulos unbeatens (1954). Special, but find game result in bold-face (UK media guide).

✓ The Unforgettables helped make Christian Laettner famous, rich, then famous and rich again.

✓ The Runts helped media twist perception-into-reality, gave Texas Western College a place in social history.

✓ The '54 team was denied a title chance because Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey and Lou Tsioropoulos (ready for this? had college degrees.

3. One-and-done rebuff. Seasoned, well prepared, Wisconsin played smarter and together longer than any team UK faced in 2014-15.

4. How could Kentucky have three more baskets, 26-23 and lose? Because, they had four in the last 10 minutes while Calipari jiggled, whined, gestured and over-coached.

5. $$$ Losing the NCAA title and 40-0 perfect may cost University of Kentucky $1.5 million, and retailers as much as $15 million in title memorabilia unsold, according to ESPN.com. "We would have produced 115,000 T-shirts over the next month," Lexington entrepreneur Matt Hoetker told the sports network.

6. Willie Cauley-Stein said he has probably played his last game at Kentucky. Two points and zero offensive rebounds in 33 minutes against Wisconsin, I thought he left a day early.

7. Andrew Harrison. Muttering one profane and racially-charged remark into a microphone put in doubt good kid image, two years in the making. But target Frank Kaminsky handled the insult like a man, "Over it."

8. Karl Anthony Townes, Trey Lyles and Andrew Harrison ... see ya.

9. Ready-Set-Go! Dept. Devin Booker. Kid is ready, right? To return to college, refine Shootist reputation learn how to get more than six shots in a Final Four game.

10. Kentucky Mr. Basketball(s) Derek Willis and Dominique Hawkins are getting a solid education in the L (sitting position). As UK coaches recruit over both, and Kentucky-rooted Chris Harrison-Docks, for instance, plays at Western Kentucky U., Bluegrass fans who love home-grown, must feel cheated.

11. Two Kentucky fan e-mails John Calipari will shrug off, ignore, care less about are these...

• "You will never know how I feel. Losing last night was like death to me. A dream that had many facets to it was quickly snuffed out. My spirit is broken ... as I go into a mourning period. I will never see anything like this team again in my remaining years. We got so close ... so close."

And...

• "Outcoached, at every turn down the stretch, Calipari," barked another. "For every (predictable) thing he tried, Bo Ryan had an answer."

12. Nate Silver, a professional statistician is to sports and politics, what Joe Lunardi is to bracketology, expert at what he does. Of the Wisconsin-Kentucky game Silver issued this stinging headline – Coach Cal Blew It. Then backed it up.

Silver's calculus was based on 100,000 simulations of game's last six minutes. Ahead four points (60-56 with the ball) and 12 possessions left for each team, UK's chances to win were 83.3%.

Instead, as he did in the 2012 championship game, Calipari slowed the pace, went to half court sets and shot attempts at end of game clock, and almost blew it then, did blow it this time. Both strategies played into Bo Ryan's hands. Critical among the last possessions: Three shot clock violations.

13. National title game day irony: On day Calipari's name was headed to hall of fame, Ryan's team played for an NCAA championship.

14. Will UK director of athletics Mitch Barnhart reward his coach of the year with something more original than a bump up to a $6.4 million-a-year bank account? A purchase voucher for Keeneland's fall sale? Around the world vacation (including side trip to Wisconsin)? Or, season tickets to Pittsburgh Pirates 2015 home games.

15. To introduce Calipari at Hall of Fame induction ceremony? Maybe the man ultimately responsible for getting him to Kentucky, Rick Pitino.

16. Proven. Best two college hoops coaches in America: Mike Krzyzewski and Bo Ryan.

17. Green Envy Dept. As SEC undergoes ball coach upgrade (Alabama, Mississippi State and Tennessee), one pipe dream to upstage all that, would be Old School Bo Ryan at Kentucky.

18. UK consolation prizes: Longest win streak in school history, 38. Consecutive games made-a-3-pointer, 939.

19. Frank Kaminsky. Black Hole Dept. Good news is Kaminsky's going to be rich. Bad news is he will disappear into the Black Hole, the NBA.

20. Frank Kaminsky (Kevin McHale reincarnate?) should be a Boston Celtic.

21. UK eliminated Saturday! No Jay Bilas' spin for pal Calipari? Never mind, columnist Mike Lupica was succinct enough, "Say what you want, but Wisconsin's 71-64 win over Kentucky was not an upset!"

22. It's early, but best ball coach honeymoon to date must be Shaka Smart at Texas or Rick Barnes at Tennessee, right? My vote goes to Jim Harbaugh at Michigan. An estimated 50,000 fans showed up for the Wolverines' spring game.

23. Ranked number one wire-to-wire (almost), finished 38-1, so, where's the nickname?

24. John Calipari in a Hall of Fame. Congratulations. Since HOFs in all sports have cheats, rogues, rascals, addicts, gamblers and anything-to-win types, why not Kentucky's coach? After all, a man who qualifies for all the above and is still outside looking in. Pete Rose.

And so it goes.

The Augusta High School held their senior sports recognition night on Monday, March 23rd, followed by a senior versus alumni basketball game.

Playing for the seniors were Zachary Elliott, son of Robin and Dwayne Elliott, Jerica Kelsch, daughter of Jennifer and David Kelsch, Paige McCord, daughter of Gretchen and Jody McCord, Olivia Plummer, daughter of Sarah Plummer, Nathan Shrader, son of Brandi and Rob Marsh, David Tucker, son of Angela and Doug Tucker, Austin Whiteman, son of Cindy and Greg Whiteman, and Nick Zeidler, son of Adelia Zeidler and the late Norman Zeidler.

Crappie time is just around the corner

Although the redbud trees haven't bloomed yet, it isn't too early to start fishing for crappie.

Black crappie are likely along rocky banks now in lakes that have them.

"With the water temperatures still in the mid-40s, white crappie are likely staging in deeper water right now," said Jeff Crosby, central fisheries district biologist for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "With the longer photoperiod and the warmer temperatures on the way, they will be moving up to the shallows."

The big twins of western Kentucky, Kentucky Lake and Lake Barkley, along with Green River Lake and Taylorsville Lake all receive oodles of fishing pressure for the crappie that swim in their waters. However, Kentucky is also blessed with other less known waters holding bountiful populations of crappie that don't receive the adulation and fishing pressure of their more well known brethren.

While known for its excellent largemouth bass fishing, wood strewn 2,315-acre Yatesville Lake in Lawrence County holds good numbers of quality white crappie with many in the 15-inch range.

"In our latest population sampling, Yatesville had the most crappie we've ever sampled in the 10- to 14-inch range," said Kevin Frey, eastern fisheries district biologist for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife.

Yatesville Lake, near the West Virginia border, more resembles a flatland reservoir with abundant woody cover than a mountain lake. Probe the fallen tree tops and submerged trees with live minnows suspended under a bobber and adjust the depth until you get bites. The timbered coves and banks near the confluence of Blaine and Greenbrier creeks hold crappie.

"In the upper part of Blaine Creek at the Rich Creek boat access, we've placed fish structures and cut down trees for bank anglers to catch crappie," Frey said. "There are numerous pull offs along KY 32 for bank anglers. It is good fishing in that area in spring."

Cave Run Lake is full of 2- to 3-year-old crappie, providing excellent opportunity for both black and white crappie. The deep weedbeds in the mouths of Skidmore and Leatherwood creeks in the Beaver Creek arm attract black crappie in March and into April. Black crappie tend to move into the shallows earlier in the year than white crappie. White crappie stay out in deeper water along creek channels while blacks may be in just a few feet of water along rocky banks at the same time.

The abundant woody structures around Bangor Boat Ramp and fallen trees along the island near Poppin Rock Boat Ramp in the North Fork Arm of Cave Run provide excellent fishing for white and black crappie.

One of the crappie sleepers flows off of Pine Mountain all the way to northern Kentucky. The Kentucky River holds considerable numbers of crappie a foot long or better. "The river goes in cycles, but there are some good fish in there," Crosby said. "The crappie in the Kentucky like those creek mouths and backwater areas with little current."

Tributaries at their confluence with the Kentucky River have abundant root wads, undercut banks and washed in tree tops and brush.

Probe all of these with live minnows suspended under a bobber or with 1/16-ounce chartreuse Roadrunner style spinner baits dressed with a matching 2-inch curly-tailed grub.

"Another flowing water to consider is the Ohio River. It is really, really good for crappie right now," Crosby said. The Ohio River offers good crappie fishing from Ashland downstream to the Purchase Region in far western Kentucky.

He recommends backwater areas along the river, often formed where tributaries meet the main stem of the Ohio. "With all of the flooding on the Ohio, those embayments should have fish right now. Target brushy areas with live minnows in those embayments."

Guist Creek Lake covers 317 acres in Shelby County. It is also overlooked for crappie. "We saw some really nice crappie last fall in our population surveying," Crosby said. "I think most of the fishing pressure there is on largemouth bass."

Early spring is a good time to catch large white crappie 11 inches and longer on Barren River Lake in Allen and Barren counties. Known throughout the Midwest and upper South as a superior largemouth bass lake and written up in national magazines, Barren River Lake holds a burgeoning population of black crappie as well, which now make up 60 percent of the total crappie population in the lake.

The huge snows of just a few weeks ago are now in the dustbin of history. It is time to get out and catch some crappie.

FULL TEXT OF ORDINANCE, AS AMEDNED AS FOLLOWS:

Commonwealth of Kentucky
BRACKEN COUNTY FISCAL COURT
ORDINANCE 11-01

AN ORDINANCE ENABLING THE OFFICE OF THE BRACKEN COUNTY JUDGE/EXECUTIVE TO ESTABLISH AND DECLARE VARIOUS LEVELS OF SNOW EMERGENCIES.

Whereas, the County Judge/Executive's Office is empowered by KRS 39A.100(2) to respond appropriately to threatened or impending emergencies; and

Whereas, the occurrence of snow, sleet and freezing rain can be hazardous for motor vehicle traffic and increases the risk of collision; and

Whereas, motor vehicles on roadways during such times may substantially interfere with the removal of snow and ice from the roadways by county employees and may interfere with the movement of emergency vehicles upon the roadways; and

Whereas, the Bracken County Fiscal Court has determined that in order to protect and safeguard the property, health, safety and welfare of its citizens during such occurrences, it should delegate authority to declare various levels of snow emergencies to the County Judge Executive.

Now therefore, be it ordained by the Fiscal Court of Bracken County, Kentucky:

Section One

Upon the occurrence of snow, sleet or freezing rain and after consultation with the Bracken County Road Supervisor and other pertinent officials, the Bracken County Judge Executive may declare a Snow Emergency and the level thereof. Upon such declaration, all major news media outlets in the Bracken County service area, other governmental jurisdictions and school district authorities in Bracken County may be notified by the most expedient method practicable under the circumstances.

Section Two

Snow Emergencies may be declared at one of the following levels:

Level One

Conditions: Roadways are hazardous due to wintery conditions.

Advisory: Cautious driving is advised.

Level Two

Conditions: Roadways are hazardous due to snow, ice, or a combination thereof.

Advisory: Only motorists whose travel is necessary should be on the roadways. Residents are urged to contact their employer to see if they should report to work.

Level Three

Conditions: All roadways, unless otherwise specified, are closed to Non-emergency Personnel.

Advisory: No one should be out during these conditions unless it is absolutely necessary to travel or a personal emergency exists. All employees should contact their employer to see if they should report to work. Those traveling on roads may subject to being cited to court.

Section Three

During Snow Emergencies, no vehicles may be parked and no person, corporation, partnership, joint venture, unincorporated association or any combination thereof may park or permit any vehicle to be parked upon any public road right-of-way.

Section Four

During Snow Emergencies, the Bracken County Road Department Supervisor may, as ordered by the Bracken County Judge Executive, assist in clearing state-owned roadways if otherwise permitted by law.

Section Five

Any person violating any provisions of this ordinance, or any lawful order, rule or regulation promulgated pursuant to it, may be issued a citation by the Bracken County Sheriff or any peace officer; upon conviction, a fine of not less than $25.00 nor more than $100.00 shall be assessed for each occurrence.

Section Six

Should any section or provisions of this ordinance be declared invalid by a court of competent jurisdiction for any reason, such declaration shall not invalidate, or adversely affect, the remainder of this ordinance.

Section Seven

This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, publication and recording, according to law.

AIS Gifted and Talented students donate to Ronald McDonald House

The Gifted and Talented students at Augusta Independent School lead a “Pull Tab Drive” in February and March to collect pull tabs to donate to the Ronald McDonald House in Cincinnati, Ohio. The Ronald McDonald House uses the pull tabs from cans to turn in and receive money to help pay for families from all over the world to stay at the facility while their child is in Children’s Hospital. These students took a trip to the Ronald McDonald House in Cincinnati to deliver the pull tabs they had collected on April 1, 2015 and got to tour the place as well. These students collected over 122 pounds of tabs, which is over $400 that will be donated to the house!

Those students who went on the trip to the Ronald McDonald House were: Casey Scott, McKenzie DeAtley, Danielle Shackelford, Adam Salee, Becca Tabor, Seth Fouts, Emily Curtis, Max Harget, Rachel Scott, Katie Gilbert, Emily Curtis, Claire Elliott, Jason Kearns, Carleigh McElfresh, Spencer Plummer, Natalie Roberts, Kylan Hinson, John Paul Cordle, Kyle Blevins. Davenport panelist on KET’s Education Matters “Inside the Common Core”, Mon., April 13th

On the next edition of Education Matters, panelists join host Bill Goodman to discuss the state’s adoption and adaptation of the national Common Core standards, which in Kentucky are known as the Kentucky Core Academic Standards (KCAS). Education Matters “Inside the Common Core” airs Monday, April 13 at 9/8 pm on KET. After airing, the program will also be available for streaming online at KET.org/educationmatters.

In Feb. 2010, Kentucky became the first state to adopt the national Common Core State Standards in mathematics and in English/language arts. On this edition of Education Matters, education experts join Goodman to offer an overview of the new Kentucky Core Academic Standards, which, according to the Kentucky Department of Education, “outline the minimum required standards that all Kentucky students should have the opportunity to learn before graduating from Kentucky high schools.”

Panelists address the ways the national standards have been adapted to meet the state’s specific needs – and how these new standards have been implemented in school districts across Kentucky over the past four years.

Panelists include Karen Kidwell, director of the Division of Program Standards at the Kentucky Department of Education, and Lafayette High School AP Calculus and Algebra teacher Ali Wright of Lexington, a National Board Certified Teacher and a national Center for Teaching Quality “teacherpreneur.”

Also joining the panel are Mikkaka Overstreet, a teacher-in-residence at Louisville’s Cochran Elementary School, where she facilitates

AIS Date Change for Family Fun Spring Fling

Augusta Independent has changed the date of the Family Fun Spring Fling to Thursday, May 7th at the school from 6-8 p.m. for families of elementary students in first through fifth grades. The Spring Fling is hosted by the district’s departments of Community Education, FRYSC, Read-to-Achieve, Special Education, and Elementary teachers. Activities to promote parent and child interaction through fun literacy events will be offered, as well as, information to provide quick and easy strategies using daily routines and materials to increase vocabulary, fluency, and comprehension.

They have planned a night of music and movement, crafting, oobleck making, drama through pictures and actions, and games that provides literacy fun for all ages! Snacks, drinks, and a teacher skit will round out the evening! Free babysitting will be provided to families attending with children over one year old to five years old.

They hope to see many of our elementary families attending this year’s SPRING FLING! If there are any questions, please call the school at 606-756-2105 and ask for Mrs. Denham.
